

SAVE THE DATE

For the second annual NPEA Annual Conference
April 8-9, 2010

From Access to Success: Best Practices for Student Achievement
April 8-9, 2010 in Baltimore, MD at the Marriott Inner Harbor at Camden Yards

Keynote Speakers (more to come): Ann S. Coles, College Access Senior Fellow, ACCESS and Senior Associate, Institute for Higher Education Policy, Karl Reid, Senior Vice President, Academic Programs and Strategic Initiatives at the United Negro College Fund, and Joyce Smith, Chief Executive Officer of the National Association of College Admission Counseling.

Sponsors (more to come): Baltimore Community Foundation (MD), Gilman School (MD), Milton Academy (MA), Phillips Exeter Academy (NH), and Pine Manor College (MA).

National Partnership for Educational Access (NPEA)

Launched in 2007, NPEA is a membership association for programs committed to increasing educational opportunities for motivated underserved students across the United States. NPEA member programs collectively serve over 23,000 underrepresented students across the country. NPEA is an initiative of The Steppingstone Foundation.

Our 2009 conference was a success with over 200 participants, 19 workshops and 5 workshop tracks. Please join us in 2010 for another great event!

For more information, please visit www.educational-access.org or email npeaconference@tsf.org with questions.